

Last dance at the Solano Starlight Ballroom

Yes, the summer is slipping away and September 27th will be the last dance at the Solano Starlight Ballroom for 2008. George Bullfrog & the Turquoise Trailers will be playing their unique brand of "Honky Tonk Swing" and Daniels Mesquite Barbeque will be serving up his usual mouth watering delights. We'll be sending out more on this last dance soon. But first.....

Solanofest IV, September 20, 2008 10am til sunset.

Four years ago I was talking to Luke Reed on how I wanted to have an activity out here. How I wanted an afternoon of music combined with a Dutch oven cook-off with craft sales and big feed at the end of the day. But, I wasn't sure on what to call it. Without hesitation Luke said, "Why heck Bob, sounds like a Solanofest to me." Leave it to a prolific songwriter to come up with the right word.

So, here we are four years into it and Solanofest has become a huge success. This success is due in a large part to our sponsors. Thank you to this years "Chuckwagon Level" sponsors, The Bank of Clovis, Community 1st Bank Roy, Ag New Mexico, FCS, ACA and T.E. Mitchell & Son, Inc.

The C - C Chuckwagon, probably the World's most winningest Chuckwagon Cooks, will again be here to judge the cook-off as well as provide a Dutch-oven cooking demonstration.

We have two very good and distinct bands to perform all afternoon for us. Kim & the Caballeros from Taos, NM will be playing their "Big Ol' Twangy Country Music" and Texas Stardust from Lubbock, TX will delight us with some traditional West Texas Ranch Dance Fiddle Music.

We would love to have you come join us for this day of fun and camaraderie. There is no charge for this event. Feel free to call for more information.
